

Natur und Leben in der Klassischen Deutschen Philosophie / Nature and Life in Classical German Philosophy

Donnerstag, 23. Mai 2019 – Ruhr-Universität, Raum GA 6/153

9:00 – 9:15 Opening Remarks

9:15 – 10:30 Till Höppner (Potsdam), Thinking an Object

10:45 – 12:00 Edgar Maragat (Valencia), Life as Real Purposiveness

12:15 – 13:30 Karen Koch (FU Berlin), Kants Agnostizismus: Zur Rolle des Naturzweckbegriffs in der dritten Kritik

Mittagspause

15:00 – 16:15 Caroline Angleraux (Padua), Monads at the Basis of Living Beings and Nature

16:30 – 17:45 Kyla Bruff (Freiburg/Memorial University), Is Schelling's Concept of Second Nature in the System of Transcendental Idealism Politically Relevant?

18:00 – 19:15 G. Anthony Bruno (Tübingen/Royal Holloway, University of London), Schelling on the Unconditioned Condition of the World

Abendessen

Freitag, 24. Mai 2019 – Ruhr-Universität, Raum GA 6/153

9:00 – 10:15 Philipp Weber (Bochum), „Das wahre Leben ist nur im Tode“. Der Akosmismus der Frühromantik

10:30 – 11:45 Thimo Heisenberg (Columbia), Hegel on 'Spiritual Death' (and How to Overcome it)

12:00 – 13:15 Sebastian Rand (Bielefeld/Georgia State), Mathematics and Construction in Hegel's Dissertatio

Mittagspause

14:45 – 16:00 Johannes-Georg Schüle (Bochum), Life and Nature in Hegel's Early Jena Lectures

16:15 – 17:30 Luca Corti (Porto/Padua), Hegel's Anthropology in Context: Naturalistic and Anti-Naturalistic Approaches to Anthropology around 1800